The 2021 Bolgheri Vermentino Paguro opens to a light straw-gold appearance. There is a dusting of flint or some slight reduction that never fully disappears, but the wine does manage to put forth a good amount of lemon, unripe peach and pear. Fruit comes from a small 1.5-hectare parcel with sandy soils at a mere 50 meters above sea level. Vermentino loves to grow next to the seashore. Some 5,600 bottles were made.
